and spectators standing and cheering while a procession carrying large pictures of the candidate and standards of some of the states that supported him took up its march around the hall. But it was too tired a convention after the grueling excitement of two sweltering days of balloting to long keep up such a demonstration. Senator Lodge, presiding, tapped for order and the delegates did not argue with him.

When it was seen that a candidate had been nominated, the customary changing of votes began with a half dozen who had voted for other candidates switching over so as to appear in the winning column on the last ballot. Most of Illinois deserted its governor and many of the Wood men, too, asked to have their votes recorded for Harding.

The final check-up showed 692 for Harding with only 12 left supporting Lowden, 157 for Wood and 30 for Johnson. At their best earlier in the day, the Wood people had mustered 512 votes and the Lowden forces 311. Johnson's high point was 184, recorded on the third ballot yesterday.

A motion to make the nomination unanimous was passed in a great show of approval, but when opportunity was given for negative votes there were some "noes" from Wisconsin whose delegation throughout the day had voted amid hisses and catcalls almost solidly for Senator Robert M. La Follette.

Coolidge Goes Over.
The plan to nominate Senator Lenroot for the vice presidency had the backing of many of the men who had helped put Harding over. The name of Governor Coolidge stirred the delegates and galleries to repeated cheering and he was swept into second place on the ticket before the first roll call had gone two-thirds of its length. Again it was Pennsylvania which furnished the winning votes.

Governor Coolidge got 674 votes to 144 for Senator Lenroot and 68 for Governor Allen of Kansas. Several others got scattering support without being placed formally in nomination. The result was greeted with another demonstration and there was renewed cheering a few minutes later when the tired delegates were told that their work was done. It was early evening by the time adjournment was reached, but before midnight hundreds had checked out and were on their way home.

Orchestra for Business Men's Bible Class

Laughton's Juvenile Musicians

Among the distinctions possessed by the Business Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church is that of having the only class musical organization in the city in Prof. Charles T. Laughton's orchestra, composed of both adults and children, which furnishes music at class meetings and socials and at the closing exercises of the general Sunday school.

The class is one of the best organized in the city and is constantly growing in attendance. It is affiliated with the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist convention and the class work in all manifestations is performed in an efficient, business-like manner.

Each man in the class having special ability is given a task to do along the line of that ability. Officers meet in a special room in the Y. M. C. A. every Monday for their evening meal, after which class plans and problems are discussed and determined.

Class officers are I. W. Shannon, president and management chairman; E. N. Riley, first vice president and enlargement chairman; C. S. Lockwood, second vice president and fellowship chairman; D. P. Shannon, third vice president and religious work chairman; C. B. Case, secretary and records chairman; E. D. Sale, librarian and literature chairman; Ore Harper, publicity chairman. E. H. Wiet is the instructor.

of Massachusetts, for the vice presidency.

Governor Coolidge's nomination was seconded from North Dakota and Michigan and many other states. There was a great burst of applause for Coolidge and delegates fairly fell over themselves for a chance to second him.

Senator Lenroot was nominated for vice president by Senator McCormick of Illinois and seconded by State Chairman Hert of Kentucky. Colonel Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va., also was placed in nomination for the vice presidency. Nobody would hear the speech which was made by a member of the Virginia delegation.

Harding Meets Lowden.

Senator Harding was in an ante-room nearby while the convention was casting the ballots which made him the republican nominee. For some of the time he chatted there with Governor Lowden, who had given up the fight a few minutes before. Mrs. Harding also was with him. Colonel Proctor, General Wood's manager, and others visited Senator Harding and Governor Lowden. The convention was noisily making history only a short distance away.

It was just about the moment that Governor Sproul in person in his seat on the floor was casting the 60 votes from Pennsylvania which ran Harding's total over 520 and gave him the nomination.

As the convention realized that a nomination had been made, bedlam cut loose and there was an unrestrained demonstration for several minutes. When quiet was restored the calling of the roll was continued. Contrary to expectations many of the remaining states held their original formation giving complimentary or farewell votes to favorite sons or men whom they had been supporting. The Philippines remained faithful to Wood to the last. On an unofficial total Harding got 645 votes and seven tenths.

Then came a landslide of changes in votes. Above the uproar and din a member of the Kansas delegation got on a chair and nominated Governor Allen for the vice presidency.

A woman delegate from Maryland tried to make a speech from a chair. The convention saw her gestures but never heard a word.

All over the hall delegates were standing on chairs or climbing on posts devoting themselves to the business of making noise.

It was a reflex from the tension of the ballots and five gruelling days in an intense heat.

Suffragists Active.
While the balloting for vice president was being done, the suffragists were active. They unfurled a large yellow banner from a balcony bearing an inscription demand to know: "Why does the republican party block suffrage?"

Within five minutes after Senator Harding had been nominated, the suffragists from their headquarters across the street were issuing statements announcing that they proposed to center their demands for action upon the constitutional amendment upon the nominee. There was no official total of the

him. It was then that he began work on the Mirror.

His political life began in 1899 when he was elected to the state senate from the 13th Ohio district. In 1903 he was elected lieutenant governor of Ohio and was elected to the United States senate in 1914.

He was married in 1891 to Miss Florence King of Marion. Golf is Senator Harding's particular hobby. He also is a great baseball fan.

He is a great home man, and likes nothing better than to sit at his own fireside entertaining friends with the help of Mrs. Harding. He takes great pride in the fact that he has never had any labor trouble at his newspaper plant.

Senator Harding is a trustee of the Trinity Baptist church of which he is a member and upon whose service he is a regular attendant when in Marion.

In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy, attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central college of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism. He was obliged to stop school now and then and earn the money with which to pursue his college course.

At one time he cut corn at another fainted barns and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the road of a new railway. At 17 he taught a district school.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman, a job printer, and as a "make-up man" is said to have few equals. The luck piece he has carried as a senator is the old printer's rule he used when he was sticking type.

On the paper Warren Harding performed every function from devil to managing editor. In all the years the senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises in Marion and other parts of the state. He is director of a bank and several large manufacturing plants.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Besides his father and a sister living at Marion, Ohio, Senator Harding has one other sister, Mrs. Carolyn Votaw, wife of Dr. Heber Votaw, and a member of the woman's bureau of the Washington police department. She received the news of her brother's nomination as the republican presidential candidate direct from his headquarters at Chicago over the long distance telephone.

At Copenhagen recently was launched the world's largest motor ship, having a length of more than 464 feet and a deadweight capacity of 13,250 tons.
